Midnight in the Ozarks and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed.

He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home.

Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again."

Not a Contagious Disease.

Much inconvenience to the family and friends of Mrs. W. H. McCurdy, who has been very sick the past week of erysipelas, has been occasioned by the impression which many of our townspeople have had in regard to that malady being a contagious disease. As will be seen from the extract following which we re-produce from the Oklahoma Health Department report, erysipelas is not included in the list of contagious diseases subject to quarantine. The same follows:

Rule No. 12.

Section 1. The following diseases must be quarantined: Scarlet fever (including scarletina and scarlet rash), diphtheria (including membranous croup), small-pox, epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, Asiatic cholera, Bubonic plague, leprosy, measles and anterior Poliomyelitis (or infantile paralysis). The following need not be quarantined, but a placard must be put up in a conspicuous place on the premises: Whooping cough, chicken-pox and mumps. Physicians must notify the family of the infectious character of the following diseases upon a blank that will be furnished by the State Commissioner of Health, with instructions for their guidance; the diseases to which their attention is called is typhoid fever, tuberculosis (including consumption), pneumonia and puerperal fever.

Section 2. Where the disease is whooping cough, mumps or chicken-pox, persons not themselves afflicted with the disease need not be isolated, provided that they do not occupy the same sleeping apartment as the patient, but such persons shall be prohibited from attending the public schools should they occupy the same sleeping apartments and come in daily contact with the patient afflicted while residing upon such premises. These restrictions shall be removed when the place has been properly disinfected, and permission is given by the County Superintendent of Public Health or City Superintendent of Public Health, and the same to be given as written permit.

Section 3. All persons affected with scabies or itch, and those infected with vermin, and contagious sore eyes, shall be excluded from the public schools as long as they are so affected with the same. All teachers and superintendents of schools shall be held personally responsible for the enforcement of this regulation, and shall promptly report all cases of this character to the local Board of Health.

Blind, Dizzy Spells

Wilmington, N. C.—Mrs. Cora L. Ritter, writes from this place: "I used to have blind dizzy spells, and weak cold spells went all over me. Different doctors could not tell me what was wrong. After taking Cardui, I am all right and in better health than for 10 years." Cardui is a remedy for women which has been used by women for nearly a lifetime. It prevents the unnecessary pains of female troubles, such as headache, backache, dizziness, dragging down feelings, etc. Try it.

A Good Shower.

A good rain gathered Sunday evening and continued at intervals throughout Monday and Tuesday. Considerable moisture fell. The rain was accompanied by a falling temperature and for a few days last passed fires have been quite comfortable.

A Strange Story

Argyle, Mich.—Mrs. Wm. H. Carson, in a letter from Argyle, says: "I was almost wild with pain in my head, and other severe pains from womanly troubles. After using Cardui, I obtained great relief. Further use of Cardui raised me from my bed of agony. Cardui saved my life, when nothing else would help me." Whether seriously sick or simply ailing, take Cardui, the woman's tonic. It relieves pain, regulates irregularities, builds weak, nervous women back to youth. Ask your druggist about it.
